

Paragraph Essay 4 Peer Review

Author of essay:

Peer Reviewer:

Peer Review Details	Area for peer reviewer to answer:
Overall
How many paragraphs does the author use? If there is only one, mark areas where the author can add new paragraphs.
After reading this, were you convinced by the authors interpretation of this art? Or, do you think there is a different interpretation? What do you think that interpretation is?
Introduction
Did the author describe the art at a surface level? If they included any interpretations, circle it in red, so they can remove this.
What is the author's argument? If you can't figure it out, let them know here.
Did they tell you what each of the next paragraphs will be about? What will they be about?
If not, tell them how they should fix this.
Body
What was the first main part the author broke down? What did they say it meant? What did you think it meant? How did they tie their claim back to their argument? If they didn't tie it back to their argument, how can they tie it back?
What was the first main part the author broke down? What did they say it meant? What did you think it meant? How did they tie their claim back to their argument? If they didn't tie it back to their argument, how can they tie it back?
What was the first main part the author broke down? What did they say it meant? What did you think it meant? How did they tie their claim back to their argument? If they didn't tie it back to their argument, how can they tie it back?

Continue to next page.

Paragraph Essay 4 Peer Review

What was the first main part the author broke down? What did they say it meant? What did you think it meant? How did they tie their claim back to their argument? If they didn't tie it back to their argument, how can they tie it back?
What was the first main part the author broke down? What did they say it meant? What did you think it meant? How did they tie their claim back to their argument? If they didn't tie it back to their argument, how can they tie it back?
Conclusion
What were the two main parts they thought were the most important?
How did the author restate their argument?
Did you think that this argument was well supported through the text? If not, tell them how they can strengthen their argument
What was the concluding statement? How could they strengthen it?
Grammar
Fix any grammatical issues you find. Specifically look for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Fragments</li> <li>• Run-ons</li> <li>• Spelling issues</li> <li>• Capitalization issues</li> </ul>	n/a
Overall
What was your favorite part of this essay?
Based on the information from this peer review, what would you grade this paper (A, B, C, D, F)? What do you think they should focus on the most to improve their grade?	